PROGRAM NOTE

Please bring a covered dish to the annual holiday party next Sunday, December 19, with a serving spoon. Desert, main or side dish are all good. Everyone who attends will get a FREE raffle ticket for an orchid plant. Bring any in-bloom plants to decorate the tables.

Coming in February: Alfonso Doucette: Passionate about orchids I'm from Woodstock, Georgia and I'm interested in orchids and their taxonomy. I grew up with a passion for orchids and in the last few years I've become seriously interested in orchids of the sub-tribe Pleurothallidinae.

I gained experience in the cultivation of orchid species and in identifying unidentified orchid species at Andy's Orchids in Encinitas California.

I also recently had a Maxillaria orchid named in my honor, Maxillaria xdoucetteana, a natural hybrid found near Moyobamba, Peru. I am very pleased to be able to study at Cornell University and am more than pleased with all of the resources and opportunities Cornell offers its students.

Look for one of Alfonso's pictures elsewhere in this newsletter!
